

2 options before the world - Tony Pearce

We're now being offered a carrot: 'take the vaccine and you get the end of the lock down.' Life will go back to normal. If it happens like that, then a lot of people are going to be really happy. You're going to see society has opened up to 'the tree of life'. If you like, opened up to normal life.

If it doesn't happen, if it's not successful and the virus continues to spread, and especially, if we have lockdown after lockdown, then people are going to get really sick. Not just physically but also mentally, and it's going to lead to total despair. I think this would be a crisis which could lead to a meltdown of society.

A health crisis, a social crisis, financial crisis, and a mental health crisis, as well as, because we're already seeing that many people are cracking up under the strain of isolation, no work, no social life, people stuck at home, perhaps with difficult family members, young people particularly. In a crisis there's an increase in alcoholism, depression. Increased numbers of people are now on antidepressant drugs which may relieve some of the symptoms but cannot solve the problem. Also, crime and domestic violence are increasing. There are reports in the papers about an increase in knife crime among the youth in London. I've also read that criminal trials are being put off for a long time because of the Covid crisis. And some people are actually dropping their accusations against people who've committed crimes because it's just too far down the line, it's too much hassle, which, if you think about it, is going to mean that criminals are going to think: 'Well I'm going to get away with it! So, let's have an increase in criminal activity'. And you can see that that would be one of the outcomes of all of this.

New deaths attributed to Covid-19 in European Union, United Kingdom, United States and China

Seven-day rolling average of new deaths (per 100k)

Source: Financial Times analysis of data from the Johns Hopkins CSSE, the World Health Organization, the UK Government coronavirus dashboard and the Swedish Public Health Agency.

Data updated March 10 2021 11.08am GMT. Interactive version: ft.com/covid19

Also, if resources become scarce and the food supply becomes a problem, and money loses some of its value as a result of inflation, you could see the way in which society will then start to crumble and lead to social unrest and social breakdown. That would be a very bad case scenario, but it's a possible one.

And I think, if they're going to prolong lockdown after lockdown, if the thing doesn't work as Boris hopes it's going to – and this is already happening in Europe – then you're going to see a scenario which could very much lead to a breakdown of society.

And we can see, as we read in the passage in Jeremiah 25, that disaster goes forth from nation to Nation and a great tempest stirs from the ends of the Earth and, in Revelation 6, that the 'four horse-men of the Apocalypse' do ride out, the Antichrist rises to power, you have war and conflict, famine and plagues, and only the Second Coming will then save us from all that.

That's one scenario which I could see coming out of what's happening now.

The other one is that, actually, it does provide some temporary fix. Now, if you think about this, this too could have a long-term effect which could lead to the same outcome which I've been talking about.

If it's successful, or even moderately successful, then you can find yourself going back to some kind of normalcy even if only for the short-term. Most people would then be very pleased with those who brought this about and, probably, very angry with those who opposed it.

After hope being deferred, their desire will be met. They will get what they want. They'll get back to the tree of life or the life which they expected, and they may well be saying 'peace and safety' as the globalist leaders bring in their 'build it better program' and attempt to reshape society in their image.

The Bible speaks a lot about peace and safety, then, sudden destruction comes. And one of the kind of things which I see from the scriptures is that, at the time when the Rapture happens, it's likely that society will be functioning as normal. And it's possible that, at that time, you will see the emerging global government behind the scenes, taking more and more control over national governments.

We see already that the globalists have used this situation to learn lessons and prepare for the next wave, which means they're preparing for something to come.

If you go to Luke 17, when Jesus speaks about the Second Coming, He says it's going to be as in the days of Noah and Lot. He also says that, at this time, one should be taken and one should be left, which I take to be a picture of the Rapture of the Church.

And He says that, at this time, the kind of society He sees in place is one where they ate, they drank, they married wives, they were given in marriage. They ate, they drank, they bought, they sold, they planted, they built, comparing it to the days of Lot and the days of Noah.

Now, those are things which happen in normal society. So, Jesus is saying that life will be going on as normal. Then, suddenly, one should be taken and one left. So, this alternative scenario which I've given could be one in which the present vaccine and things in general do work, and we get back to some kind of normal society where people are very happy and they think everything's fine. They've got peace and safety. Then, suddenly, Jesus shows up and takes those of His to be with Him

So, watch this space! But if this second scenario happens, then the powers of government will be given credit for giving people back their lives – the desire and the life that they want.

20 Now when He was asked by the Pharisees when the kingdom of God would come, He answered them and said, “The kingdom of God does not come with observation; 21 nor will they say, ‘See here!’ or ‘See there!’ For indeed, the kingdom of God is within you.”

22 Then He said to the disciples, “The days will come when you will desire to see one of the days of the Son of Man, and you will not see it. 23 And they will say to you, ‘Look here!’ or ‘Look there!’ Do not go after them or follow them. 24 For as the lightning that flashes out of one part under heaven shines to the other part under heaven, so also the Son of Man will be in His day. 25 But first He must suffer many things and be rejected by this generation. 26 And as it was in the days of Noah, so it will be also in the days of the Son of Man: 27 They ate, they drank, they married wives, they were given in marriage, until the day that Noah entered the ark, and the flood came and destroyed them all. 28 Likewise as it was also in the days of Lot: They ate, they drank, they bought, they sold, they planted, they built; 29 but on the day that Lot went out of Sodom it rained fire and brimstone from heaven and destroyed them all. 30 Even so will it be in the day when the Son of Man is revealed.

31 “In that day, he who is on the housetop, and his goods are in the house, let him not come down to take them away. And likewise the one who is in the field, let him not turn back. 32 Remember Lot’s wife. 33 Whoever seeks to save his life will lose it, and whoever loses his life will preserve it. 34 I tell you, in that night there will be two men in one bed: the one will be taken and the other will be left. 35 Two women will be grinding together: the one will be taken and the other left. 36 Two men will be in the field: the one will be taken and the other left.”

37 And they answered and said to Him, “Where, Lord?”

So He said to them, “Wherever the body is, there the eagles will be gathered together.”